Join us for a free in-person workshop into the boundless realm of associative thinking! This event is designed to help you learn how associative thinking works and how it is the backbone of everything in the entrepreneurship world. Through this interactive workshop, you'll discover how to use associative thinking and break free from conventional thought patterns in your processes. Harness the power of association to unlock new insights and implement them in your practices.

Come join us with Leo Chan who is the founder of Abound Innovation Inc. He's a people and heart-first entrepreneur who believes everyone can be an innovator. An innovator himself, with 55 US patents and over 20 years of experience, Leo has come alongside organizations like Chick-fil-A and guided them to unleash the innovative potential of their employees by transforming them into confident innovators. Leo's friendly, joyful and enthusiastic demeanor makes the journey to innovation exciting and attainable.
